WHY SHOULD YOU JOIN LinkedIn?

• FACT: LinkedIn members with more than 20 connections are 34 times more likely to be approached with a job opportunity than members with less than five connections.

• FACT: The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates 70% of all jobs are filled as a result of networking.

• LinkedIn is the world’s largest professional networking service, with over 225 million members and another two being added every second. Carrington’s student and alumni groups are part of the LinkedIn network.

• It’s quick, free, and easy to join.

• Being a LinkedIn member can open many doors for you. The site is designed to make you more successful in your career. You can use it to gain valuable endorsements and recommendations from past bosses and coworkers as your career develops, and to find the right person to approach (e.g., a hiring manager) at the company you want to work for.

• LinkedIn “runs in the background” and does not require a lot of work from you to be effective.

• Once you connect with someone (a friend or coworker) you can stay connected with them even as their lives, jobs, emails and location change.

• You can use the power of your friends’ connections, either now or later (if you need a new job), to look for employment opportunities you may not otherwise be aware of.

• Students are LinkedIn’s fastest-growing category of new members.
